FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Riverwalk Residents Find Help at ConshohockenCares.com Blog

Blog launched as a public service to help Riverwalk at Millennium residents rebuild

KING OF PRUSSIA, Pa.— August 19, 2008— O’Neill Properties Group, has launched a new blog to give displaced residents of Riverwalk at Millennium a central place to turn for information. The site, ConshohockenCares.com, is now providing regular updates, information, advice, and access to resources that will help residents get their lives back in order quickly. ConshohockenCares.com also provides a form where anyone can ask a question, add information, or post an offer to help. The site has already received several offers for temporary housing and other helpful services from the community.

“We wanted to provide a place where people could find important information quickly, and pull together as a community to share knowledge and help each other,” said Rosemarie McElwee Console at O’Neill Properties Group. “We are encouraging everyone with a question or an offer to help to post their information on ConshohockenCares.com. We will do our best to try and find answers, and get the offers out to the public. If you would like to help, please, let us know. And keep checking ConshohockenCares.com for the latest updates.”

ConshohockenCares.com will be regularly updated as new information comes in. It already features dozens of posts covering temporary housing, meetings for residents, how to replace personal documents, how to file for insurance claims, information from the Red Cross, pet loss assistance, local businesses offering aid, advice about how to donate money or assistance to residents, and much more. For more information, please visit <http://www.ConshohockenCares.com>
